

Lomond District Ready For 50th Anniversary Weekend

The start of what should be three of the biggest days of the Lomond district is only two days away. The village is celebrating its 50th birthday and three days—Friday, Saturday and Sunday—have been set aside to fully observe it.

For months the anniversary committee, headed by Mayor B. M. (Pete) Stokes, has been working on every detail of a fitting program that will be entertaining and yet serve as a reminder and a tribute to those who paved the way for the district of today.

Action comes early in the weekend with the start of a three-game senior ball tournament slated for 10:30 a.m. Friday. At 2:00 p.m. a country and western show featuring Roy Warhurst and his western swing band and the Del Rios will bring crowds to the Lomond Community Centre, scene of most of the weekend activities. This program is sponsored by Jim Lay's Purity 99 Service. Immediately following the show the Lomond Lions will have hundreds of pounds of prime beef barbecued for a late afternoon feast and in the evening starting at 7:30 p.m. the fun and excitement of professional wrestling will be seen. Fraser's orchestra will then play for a modern dance.

The big anniversary parade is first on the agenda for Saturday with judging of entries to begin at 11:00 a.m. and marching time 1:00 p.m.

Following the parade the Vulcan County Band will present a concert at the Community Centre to give folks a breather before the afternoon of sports events. A cash bingo at 4 p.m. precedes one of the highlights of the weekend, the Pioneer Supper from 6 to 8 p.m. Further honor to pioneers is in the special oldtime dance which begins at 9 p.m. with Art Turley's orchestra in attendance. The Lomond Golden Anniversary draw will be held at 11 p.m. with three prizes offered.

An inter-denominational service at the Community Centre Sunday at 11:00 a.m. will find appeal in this religious observance of the occasion with guest speaker a district native, Rev. Carl Fosmark.

Rev. Fosmark's parents came from Oregon in the summer of 1909 to file a homestead. In the fall the family moved to Claresholm while a home was being built and in February, 1910 they returned to the new surroundings. Rev. Fosmark was one of 10 children and received his early education at Burdock School. This building was later moved to Lomond and is now the IHC premises of Sid Carrington.

From this district the young man answered the call to the ministry and his life has been dedicated to this vocation. Rev. Fosmark presently resides at Calgary where he is superintendent of the Prairie District, Free Evangelical Church, Calgary.

Daily registrations can be made at the Community Centre where copies of the newly published book on the history of the district will be available along with copies of the Advocate's special issue and other souvenirs and displays.

The committee in charge of the 375-page book on the history of the district was relieved this week to receive the first copies and it is expected hundreds of these will become prized possessions of the people about whom they were written, this weekend.

This anniversary weekend is an expensive undertaking, both in money and time for almost everyone in the district but the rains have come, fields are green and growing and there's an air of happiness and optimism which only this can bring to a community.

The folks in the east country are all set.

Heavy Weekend Rains Improve Crop Prospects

Heavy rains throughout the county Friday evening, July 1, and all day Saturday, July 2, have made moisture conditions for this year's crop practically perfect and warm weather would now be welcomed to speed growth.

Crops are generally heavy and another rain will be needed later in July if they are to reach their present potential in yield, but prospects at present are certainly bright.

In Vulcan, weekend rains as measured by the Alberta Wheat Pool totalled 2.46 inches and from information available at time of writing all county points received good rains.

Some exceptional yields of fall rye can be expected this year, as this crop now has plenty of moisture for filling.

Children Enjoy Big Day

Blessed by good weather for most of the day, the Vulcan Elks July 1st celebration was a successful event that attracted hundreds of children and their parents.

Primarily a day for the children, the celebration featured free ice cream and soft drinks for all youngsters, foot races and ferris wheel.

A fastball frolic and gymkhana events provided entertainment for everyone and bingo and horseshoe games attracted their share of participants.

A beef barbecue dinner was served at noon.

Led by smartly uniformed Elks and members of the Royal Purple and the Vulcan County Band, the day started with a big parade at 10:30 a.m. Fraternal and commercial floats, antique cars, novelty floats, Light Horse Association and 4-H Colt Club riders and lady clowns on a "bicycle built for two" (Continued on Page 4)

Home Was Where You Hung Your Hat In Early Days

ROOM WITH A VIEW. The inscription on the photo, right, reads "Dan Jantzie's homestead shack, 1913." This week that same Dan Jantzie, now retired at Vulcan, looks out from two or three view windows of his comfortable home, over a pleasant lawn and landscaped yard and back into the healthiest garden in town. He remembers, with a grin, the bleak fenceless winter prairie that was his lawn back in the early days of Lomond district where he first settled and he hopes to be back there this weekend to meet with some of those who were his neighbors and friends in those years. The occasion is the 50th anniversary of Lomond and district and it is expected many old-timers and former residents will be back for the celebration.

Mr. Jantzie came to Vulcan in 1912, and in succeeding years proved up his homestead quarter-section in the Lomond district and sold it to return to his native Ontario. The east no longer held any charm for him and he returned to have another try on the land. In two years, around 1917, he managed to acquire two teams of horses for his place north-east of Lomond but by 1922 repeated crop failures and attacks by cut-

He came back to what is his home place north of Vulcan where he had previously been on threshing crews and he struck up a working agreement with the owner, the father of the late Alvie Jacobson and in the '40's he bought the land outright.

Mr. Jantzie's impressions of life in bygone days in the Lomond district are part of the fascinating reading contained in the History Of The Lomond District, a book published in conjunction with this anniversary year.

Lengthy Legal Dispute . . .

Canadian Western Gas Co. Wins Supreme Court Case

Residents of the town of Vulcan have enjoyed natural gas service for almost seven years, but in all that time there has been some uncertainty as to whether Canadian Western Natural Gas Company Limited would continue to be the operator of the gas system.

This uncertainty was removed last week by a judgement of the Supreme Court of Canada.

Canadian Western has been delivering natural gas to residents within the town partly through mains built by it, and partly through mains which it has been renting from Central Gas Utilities Ltd., which previously distributed propane gas.

Ratepayers of Vulcan voted May 29, 1959, to grant a natural gas franchise to Canadian Western. Canadian Western entered into an agreement to purchase the Central Gas facilities and built a 43-mile transmission line from the Alberta Gas Trunk Line to serve the town, and the communities of Barons, Champion, Carmangay and Kirkcaldy.

Then on Sept. 8, 1959, Central Gas commenced the legal action which has been before the courts for almost seven years, claiming that Canadian Western only held the Vulcan franchise as a trustee for Central Gas and was accountable to Central Gas for any profits of the franchise, less reasonable operation charges.

However, the residents of Vulcan were assured of natural gas service, despite the lawsuit, as a result of an agreement reached by the two parties on Oct. 2, 1959, which made it possible for service to be provided in the meantime. The way cleared, a natural gas flare on Oct. 23, 1959, signalled the start of service in the town.

Explaining the situation today, John Fisher, superintendent of Canadian Western's Lethbridge district, told the Advocate:

"Now that the Supreme Court of Canada has ruled in favor of Canadian Western, we expect to complete the purchase of the Central Gas mains in Vulcan in accordance with the Oct. 2, 1959 agreement."

Questioned about a statement carried by the Canadian Press from Ottawa, and published in some Alberta newspapers, which referred to "huge profits" earned in Vulcan, Mr. Fisher had this to say:

"This report is not accurate. The fact is that in the almost seven years that the Vulcan extension has been operating, Canadian Western has not received earnings as high as those permitted by the Public Utilities Board on the company's operations."

Mr. Fisher went on to say that despite this situation, "some reduction in the cost of gas to consumers is in sight due to the prospect of income tax rebates."

Mr. Fisher was referring to the enabling legislation which last week was passed by the House of Commons. Under it 95 per cent of the income taxes paid by utilities will be returned to the provinces. The Alberta Government will return the money to the utility companies. Canadian Western announced a year ago it would pass these rebates on to its consumers.

Perennial Champ Wellman Again Wins Foothills Title

The winner of the Men's Championship of the Foothills Golf Tournament hasn't changed; as Vulcan's Ray Wellman for the eighth time in the past ten years, continued his mastery of the event in winning again at Claresholm on June 26 and July 3.

Ward McDonald of Claresholm lost the final to Wellman by a three and two margin, while Wally Thrun of High River lost to the champion by a one up score in the semi-final.

Doris Creighton of Nanton won the ladies' championship over Marg Whitehead of Claresholm. June Wellman of Vulcan won the consolation of the ladies' championship.

Vernal Haga of Vulcan won the consolation of the men's second flight.

At a meeting of the various town representatives it was decided to try and run the Foothills golf tournament in the future as a one-day tourney using club handicaps to qualify and continuing as a match play event. The last Sunday in June was set as the most probable date.

Mid-season Sees Much Activity On Golf Scene

The Vulcan Men's Golf League completed its first half last week with Harris Matlock's team ending in top spot. The team consists of H. Matlock, G. Gorbous, B. Banks, S. Beagle, V. Haga, C. Snow, F. Fletcher, T. Percival and G. Eamor.

The C. Fulton team ended up in second spot.

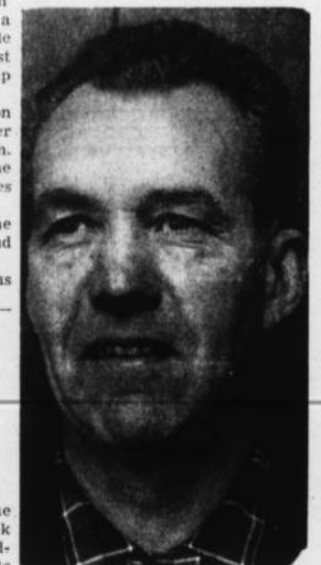

The teams now start the second half of the schedule.

Men's Club Playoffs have been posted and completion of these matches is hoped for at the earliest possible convenience.

The President - Vice-President matches are also drawn up and this event has a supper at stake so will be competed for quite seriously.

Coming tournaments include the Herald District Playoffs on Sunday, July 10, at Nanton and July 17 at Turner Valley which is also the date of Turner Valley's tournament. On July 24, High River is planning a big ladies' and men's Match Play Tournament.

It takes two kinds of people to make the world — poets to write about the glories of autumn and the rest of us to rake them.

CLERICS' CORNER

This week's contributor: Rev. Wellington Dormer
Vulcan United Church

A small girl was taken during her school holidays to the Natural History Museum. When she reached home her father asked her how she enjoyed herself.

"Very much, Daddy" said the little girl "Mummy took me to a dead circus."

The museum was a place where one could see "reasonable families" of creatures past and present. The stuffed and preserved specimens made an impact upon the child's thinking, but there was something lacking — LIFE. If life had been in those otherwise real-like bodies how different would have been her impressions. "Dead Circus" would never have described her holiday.

Religion for some people is a museum — a "dead circus". Religion connects them with the past and preserves the thought of antiquity. Religion gives them dead language, dead creeds, and dead forms. They cherish it for its antiquity and its sentimental value. They are impressed with its language, creeds, and forms, but there is something lacking — LIFE. Such a religion makes a certain impact on people but it lacks the dynamic force of true Christianity which regenerates men and gives them new life. Christianity — life in its fullest meaning — must be in our religious language, creeds and forms if our faith is going to be more than a dead historic record. Let us be dynamic positive Christians: let us be living witnesses of a living faith. In such a way we can prove to the world that the Church is not the preserver of a dead faith, but a living body full of the vitality of the Eternal Living Spirit of Christ.

"Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."
—Matthew Chap. 5:16.

REPORT FROM
Parliament Hill

(By Lawrence E. Kindt, M.P.)

Canada's support of General de Gaulle at the recent NATO meeting, in direct opposition to the position taken by the United States and Great Britain, has caused much comment on Parliament Hill. History may show that General de Gaulle's view of the future of Europe is a correct one, but this is a matter of opinion that only future events will be able to prove one way or another. Many people around Ottawa think that it was not at all in Canada's best interest to publicly rebuke the U.S. under these circumstances, as an unfriendly U.S. Government has numerous ways of making displeasure felt in Canada; one has only to look back to 1962 to realize this.

This is not to say that Canada should always agree with the United States, but when we do decide to pull some feathers out of the Eagle's tail it should be with respect to matters of perhaps greater importance to Canada's national interest. The other countries in NATO did not decide to pick up the cudgels on behalf of General de Gaulle, and the other NATO members are European countries which are directly affected by General de Gaulle's position.

What is more, for the second time the Prime Minister has appeared to exercise astonishingly bad taste in his method of chastising the U.S.A., viz., in a public speech in the U.S.A. itself. Such behaviour cannot help but antagonize the U.S. Government, and a great many Americans as well. How would we like it if President Johnson made a speech at Toronto University and publicly attacked Canada's failure to support the U.S. in Viet Nam? As already mentioned, General de Gaulle may prove to be right, but if Canada wished to support him the Government should have let its views be known by other means.

CAMPER'S
BEWARE

With the season of camping upon us a new danger has made itself felt among several families in Canada. One youth has already lost his life from asphyxiation through using a sleeping bag that had not been properly aired following dry cleaning.

Another 16-year-old boy almost suffered the same fate and an adult barely got out of his tent before being overcome.

The 16-year-old boy was found unconscious in his sleeping bag, but fortunately, artificial respiration was applied in time to save him. His sleeping bag had been cleaned in a coin-operated establishment that used carbon tetrachloride. It had not been aired since cleaning.

During 1965 a total of well over six million free cancer dressings were provided by units of the Canadian Cancer Society to cancer patients throughout the country.

Receives Serious Injuries In Montana Accident

A holiday weekend in Kalispell, Montana, for Mr. and Mrs. Brian Erickson and Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Schlerman never really got started when a street accident in Kalispell just after the two young couples had arrived resulted in serious injuries to Brian Erickson.

According to reports, the young people had just arrived in the Montana city and Brian had got out of the car and was crossing the street when he was struck by a car that had been hidden from his view by a passing truck. His injuries include both legs badly broken, shock, cuts and bruises.

The accident happened in the early morning of July 1st and word was relayed by the RCMP to Brian's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Erickson, who left immediately for Kalispell and are remaining there until Brian can be moved to a Calgary hospital, probably in a week's time.

Tour To Lacombe:

It appears that we will have a tour to Lacombe Experimental Station on July 19. A few people have contacted us but we would appreciate hearing from anyone else who might be planning to come so that arrangements can be finalized.

A tour of these facilities will be enjoyed by the whole family. Depending on the interests of those attending, perhaps some of the experimental work can be seen also. As previously mentioned, the main theme in this tour is Horticulture and should be well worth the trip on this account alone.

Silage Pamphlet:

A new publication of the Alberta Department of Agriculture has just arrived. It has been designed to meet the ever increasing popularity of silage as a form of winter roughage for Alberta cattle.

The increased interest in silage in Alberta is mainly due to the lower losses experienced with silage compared to hay. In many parts of the province it is difficult to cure hay without weather damage. Silage has a special appeal in such areas because weather is not as great a problem in silage making. The new bulletin entitled "Silage in Alberta" can be obtained from our office here in Vulcan.

Breeding Beef Heifers as Yearlings:

There has been considerable controversy among stockmen concerning the pros and cons of breeding beef heifers as yearlings. Because of this interest I'm including in this weeks column some comments of H. B. Jeffery, Supervisor of A. I. with the Alberta Department of Agriculture.

According to H. B. Jeffery, Supervisor of Artificial Insemination with the Alberta Department of Agriculture, this practice has some strong arguments in its favor. For instance an extra calf should be realized during the productive life of each cow and non-breeders can be weeded out a year sooner. This means the number of herd replacements that have to be carried will be less.

Breeding heifers as yearlings, however, is not without its management problems. A high percentage of calving problems in most herds occur with heifers. If losses are to be kept to a minimum the heifers must be well-grown before they are bred. They should weigh from 650 to 700 pounds at this time and that this weight should come from the size of their frame; not from excess fat.

A study reported by the U.S.D.A. relating calving problems to weights of heifers just before calving showed that in the smaller group (625-774 pounds) 16 per-cent of the calves were born dead and 36 per-cent of the heifers had trouble calving. In the middle group 6 per-cent of the calves were born dead and 15 per-cent of the heifers had trouble calving. In the heavier group (925 pounds and over) 4 per-cent had calves born dead and 9 per-cent of the heifers had difficulty calving.

Mr. Jeffery pointed out that the cost of breeding yearling heifers involves additional feed during the first and second winters. When possible first-calf heifers should be fed separately from the main cow herd.

We Permanently Record All Prescriptions

No matter how long ago you secured a prescription from us, we can locate it quickly if you wish to repeat it, or if any physician you consult needs information about what you have taken.

There are some medicines which can only be refilled if your physician instructs us to renew them. Sometimes a new prescription is needed. We have wise pharmacy laws which protect you against harm. We gladly obey them.

When you wish to refill such prescriptions, at your request we will phone your physician for his permission and if necessary ask for a new prescription. This sometimes takes time 'till we can speak to the physician, but we are glad to supply this extra service.
